ALLES LAUNCH ATTACK ON WESTERN FRONT AMERICANS ENLARGE POSITIONS ON LEYTE

Island Will Be Used as a Base For New Attacks

Osmena Sets Up New Government

By DEAN SCHEDLER
GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, LEYTE, PHILIPPINES, Monday, Oct. 23 (AP)—Steady expansion of American ground force positions on all Leyte island fronts today paralleled the beginning of work on what a communique called a "great base for all arms for future operations."

Simultaneously, Gen. Douglas MacArthur in a proclamation declared the Americans had come as "liberators" for the entire Philippine archipelago. He declared the rest of the islands government had been re-established under President Sergio Osmena, of the commonwealth government, who landed with the liberating forces.

Japanese Withdrawing
Enemy forces of Leyte apparently are withdrawing westward after their "preliminary" defeat, the communique reported.

It said work had begun to prepare the captured airfields near Tacloban and Dulag for American use, as other preparations commenced to make Leyte a great offensive base for future campaigns. MacArthur's proclamation declared the laws and regulations of President Jose P. Laurel's "republic" government are "null and void" in areas "free of enemy occupation and control."

The authority of the commonwealth government will be extended by "constitutional process" to liberated areas as soon as they are freed, the proclamation said.

Jap Supply Problem Difficult
The headquarters communique reported the Japanese supply problem already had become "critical" and might become worse.

The Japanese attempted "minor and ineffective" aid raids on American shipping off Leyte, the announcement said. Allied bombers were extremely active in bombing tank bases in the Philippines and other southwest Pacific areas.

Heavy bombers unloaded ninety-four tons of explosives on Mindanao, smashing buildings and other installations. Among targets were Tagayan, principal communications center in the northern part of the island, which was attacked without enemy opposition, the communique said.

Medium bombers hitting the Visayan Islands, in the Central Philippines, sank three small freighters and probably sank four more. Night reconnaissance planes continued to harass the vital oil center of Balikpapan, Borneo, among other widespread attacks reported in the communique.

Harmon Returns To Command U. S. Tank Division

By HAL BOYLE
WITH THE UNITED STATES ARMORED DIVISION IN GERMANY, Oct. 22—(AP)—"Old Gravel Voice" is back in the saddle again as boss of this famous "Hell on Wheels" division, and he has spared it into the Siegfried line.

He is Maj. Gen. Ernest N. Harmon, known to American tankmen around the world as "Hardbitten" and he has fought more battles and killed more Germans and taken more prisoners than any other armored commander under the flag.

Leads Armored Division
For the first time Gen. Omar N. Bradley, commander of American ground forces, permitted today the disclosure that Harmon had taken over again the leadership of the Second armored division—the outfit which he originally landed under fire in French Morocco in November, 1942.

And he gave up "a bigger" job back home for a chance to lead his veterans into combat again.

Last July this 50-year-old general—a tartar to his officers but called the "enlisted men's buddy" by the men who man his tanks—was rewarded for an unequalled fighting record in Africa and Italy by assignment to command the Twenty-third corps at Camp Bowie, Tex.

Asked for Action
But Harmon did not want rank so much as he wanted action. In a personal letter, he asked for a chance to crack the Germans again. When Maj. Gen. Edward H. Brooks, then commander of the Second armored division, was elevated to a higher post, Bradley promptly offered Harmon his old "Hell on Wheels" division.

"Old Gravel Voice"—he talks like a concrete mixer in low gear—flew the ocean and took command on September 12 in Belgium. He promptly bridged the Albert canal under fire and sent his tanks rolling across Holland and into Germany.

Yank-British Pacific Plans Made in Quebec

By ELTON C. FAY
Associated Press War Analyst

It now appears clear that the Quebec conference of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill included plans for synchronizing British action with the current offensives of American military and naval forces in the Pacific.

Two developments over the weekend point this up. In England, Albert V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, said that a part of a vast British fleet capable in itself of fighting a general action with the Japanese navy was on its way to the Pacific. (The Japanese radio reported that four aircraft carriers and ten battleships of the British Eastern fleet were on the move from the Indian ocean.)

Hit Nicolai Islands
In the bay of Bengal, Eastern fleet units struck the Nicolai islands groups where the Japanese took over soon after the conquest of Malaya. This was the latest in a series of forays made by British task forces in the east.

Even if the intention is not an immediate, actual union of American and British naval strength in the Pacific theater the movement of the British fleet toward the Pacific and its activity in Indian ocean waters will have a salutary effect on the Japanese.

Discouraging to Japs
If the Japanese had entertained any thought of diverting some of their naval forces in the East Indies or operating out of Singapore to aid their naval forces in the Philippines-Formosa area it is to be presumed the British action will discourage them.

General MacArthur, upon his arrival at Leyte, said that the ultimate strategic objective of the Philippines campaign was to cut off all Japanese forces to the south. The British activity certainly should implement this strategy. American and British fleet units have operated together in the east on previous occasions. American ships and planes joined with the British in the strikes at the East Indies last spring. Before that British units, including the aircraft carrier Victorious, had served in the Pacific with the American fleet.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP)—Close associates of Senator Ball (R-Minn.) said tonight they expected that Ball will come out for the re-election of President Roosevelt on the strength of the president's words of peace Saturday night. Ball himself refused to say whether he had decided to bolt his party in the presidential race. He said only that he planned to make a public statement tomorrow.

Bomber Plant Workers Terminate Strike When Troops Take Action

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 22 (AP)—Employees of the North American Aviation Company's bomber plant, where the board's action came today, ended their strike when they returned to work at 7 a. m. Monday.

Members of local No. 31, United Automobile Workers (CIO) voted at a mass meeting to return to work on recommendation of their executive board. The board's action came after a group of 127 workers, whose discharge from the company's modification plant precipitated the walk-out which closed the huge bomber

Russians Advance On 40-Mile Front In East Prussia

Within 17 Miles Of City of Tilsit

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
LONDON, Monday, Oct. 23 (AP)—

Russian troops hurled the enemy across the Norwegian frontier on a forty-mile front yesterday, capturing valuable nickel mines and driving to within seventeen miles of the Nazi naval base at Kirkenes, Berlin meanwhile announced that other Soviet forces were now twenty-one miles inside German East Prussia and shelling the strategic rail city of Tilsit.

Red army units attacking East Prussia from the north reached the Niemen river opposite Tilsit in a fifteen-mile advance, and farther south other troops in a twenty-one mile penetration from the east over the Rominter forest, cut the Gumbinnen-Goldap highway, and began assaulting those communication towns, Berlin said.

Russia Silent on Battle
As the Russian East Prussian offensive entered its seventh day, Moscow still had not mentioned the battle which Berlin described as the most savage of the entire war in the east.

The Russians, however, reported that their troops had advanced twelve miles closer to imperilled Budapest in Hungary, had captured the his Eastern Hungarian junction city of Nyiregyhaza and other points near the Southern Czechoslovakian border, had toppled the North Yugoslav communications town of Sombor and forced the Sava river beyond fallen Belgrade in a pursuit of the enemy.

In Northern Finland the Soviet Karelian army under Gen. K. A. Meretskov, supported by the Red Arctic fleet, reached the Norwegian frontier on a front extending from Vuoremi on the Barents sea inland to Lake Koutajärvi.

Reds Approach Kirkenes
At Vuoremi the Russians were twenty miles east of Kirkenes, the Nazi naval base from which German planes and ships have preyed on Allied land-lease shipments moving through the Arctic to Murmansk. At Koutajärvi lake, where the Arctic highway leads into German-held Norway, the Russians were only seventeen miles south of Kirkenes.

Norwegian underground reports to London said a Russian invasion of Norway, held by the Germans since the spring of 1940, was imminent. A midnight Soviet bulletin said that Meretskov's troops, moving across terrain often without roads, had inflicted heavy losses on the Germans retreating into Norway.

Torpedo boats of the Red fleet also sank two German transports and three auxiliary vessels in Varanger fjord, the late bulletin said.

Pope and Franco Scored by Reds

MOSCOW, Oct. 22 (AP)—Pope Pius XII and the Franco regime in Spain were the twin targets of an article in the Soviet publication, War and the Working Class, today which said the Pope might be called the "Godfather" of the Spanish dictatorship.

The article, written by F. Golubev, demanded "the liquidation of the center of the fascist infection in Spain for the future security of Europe."

Describing Franco as "Hitler's faithful servant," the article charged that Spain continued to supply Germany with raw materials and acted as a subversive agent in South America.

"Franco," it continued, "in the past has been supported by reactionary forces in England and the United States who were called Munichites later. Today the Vatican accords all possible support to Franco's regime. As he loses his main support—Hitlerite Germany—Franco looks to other forces for aid. One of his best allies is the Vatican. Pope Pius XII could be called Franco's 'Godfather.'" factory, voted to urge the other employees to return to their jobs. The plant employs 16,000 workers. The discharged employees then appeared at the mass meeting recommending that the plant be reopened and their individual cases be left in the hands of the regional War Labor Board.

A group of service men marched on the closed plant yesterday, dispersed pickets and destroyed union placards. The service men told the one picket who stood his ground that they would return Monday to see that workers were admitted.

Dewey Sees FDR Change in Plans As Encouraging

Says President Hopes To "Reverse Trend"

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP)—

President Roosevelt has set a course for a down-the-stretch fourth term drive almost parallel to that which culminated in his shutting the two-term tradition in 1940.

He has decided to alternate in chief executive and candidate roles as he did about this time four years ago. In battered Fedora and navy cape familiar to earlier campaigns, he has set out in heavy-ballooning territory looking for votes which his political counselors believe may hold the answer to the Nov. 7 election.

Democratic leaders have made no secret of their glee over what they call "this fighting mood."

Republicans Happy
Republicans say they are happy, too, that he is now "out in the open." Gov. Dewey himself interpreted Mr. Roosevelt's decision to campaign actively as an effort to "reverse a trend" to the Republican side.

Four years ago, the president in accepting a third nomination said he would not have "the time or inclination" to engage in "purely political debate" unless forced into it by the tactics of the opposition. He capped several defense inspection trips with dedicatory speeches in TVA territory around Labor day. Republicans demanded an investigation to determine if public funds had been spent for what then GOP Chairman Joseph W. Martin termed a "political junket."

The same question arose in early August this year when, at the end of a Pacific trip, the president spoke at Bremerton navy yard. The opposition described the speech as political and demanded equal time on the radio to reply. The White House insisted it was non-political.

Made "Opening" Speech
The president made his first avowed political speech in the 1940 campaign Sept. 12, before the International Teamsters Union here. The same group heard him speak here Sept. 27. He called this his opening speech of the 1944 campaign.

The 1940 picture changed suddenly Oct. 18 when the president told a press conference that there had been "a systematic and deliberate 'falsification of facts by the opposition.' To 'set the record straight' he said he was going to the country with a series of five political speeches.

He spoke in virtually the same regions he is reported to have decided to visit between now and election day a little more than two weeks away. In accepting a fourth nomination in July, Mr. Roosevelt said he would not campaign in the "usual partisan political sense," but reserved the right to reply to any "misrepresentations."

Does An About Face
He started hitting at what he called "fraud" and "falsehood" in his Teamsters' address, and followed a similar line in his radio address of Oct. 5. Last night in New York he said, apparently with respect to Dewey's assertion that he had conducted "secret, personal diplomacy."

The American people know that Cordell Hull and I are thoroughly conversant with the constitution of the United States and know that we cannot commit this nation to any secret treaties or any secret guarantees which are in violation of that constitution.

After my return from Teheran, I stated officially that no secret commitments had been made. The issue then is between my veracity and the continuing assertions of those who have no responsibility in the foreign field—or, perhaps I should say, a field foreign to them."

The president's next speech will deal with the administration's attitude toward business—in Philadelphia Friday night.

Richard Bennett Dies in Los Angel

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 22 (AP)—Richard Bennett, long a stage matinee idol and later a prominent screen character, died in Good Samaritan hospital today after a heart attack. He was 72.

At his bedside were his film actress daughters, Constance and Joan Bennett. A third daughter, Barbara, was reported enroute here from the East.

Hospital attendants said that death came peacefully to the veteran actor, who had been in failing health for several years. He entered the hospital about two weeks ago, and had been in a coma most of the time since Friday.

British Landing On Lemnos Helps To Free Greece

By NOLAN NORGAARD
ROME, Oct. 22 (AP)—The British

broom sweeping the Germans out of the Aegean has reached the northern extremity with a landing on the strategic Island of Lemnos guarding the entrance to the Dardanelles. A royal navy communique announced today the capture of the port of Mudros on the south coast of the island after a fierce thirty-hour battle. Four hundred prisoners were taken, the communique said.

One of First Captured
Lemnos has an area of 150 square miles and was one of the first Greek islands captured by the Germans in the early part of their 1941 Balkan campaign. Its population is predominantly Greek with a small Turkish minority. Mudros is at the head of a landlocked bay which has naval value.

The royal navy communique said British forces landed on the west coast of the island at dawn on Oct. 16 and after street fighting in the captured Mudros at 1 p. m., Oct. 17.

Some troops of the German garrison attempted to escape in small boats but were driven back to shore by naval gunfire and suffered numerous casualties. The cruiser H.M.S. Argonaut on Oct. 18 destroyed a large German tank landing craft near the island.

British Drive Continues
The British drive to clear the Germans from the Greek mainland continued without letup as carrier-based RAF planes attacked rail transport in the Volos area on Greece's middle eastern coast. These attacks were followed by an air raid on the island of Coo in the Dodecanese.

On the night of Oct. 19 the British destroyers Terzagant and Tuscan invaded the waters of the gulf of Salonika in the Northern Aegean and drove a German destroyer ashore.

Allied headquarters announced provision had been made for six months emergency civilian supplies for Greece amounting to approximately 780,000 tons valued at $120,000,000. The supplies are provided partly by the United States and the remainder by Britain.

97 Known Dead In Plant Blast

CLEVELAND, Oct. 22 (AP)—Weary searchers probed charred ruins of a fifty-block east side area today for bodies of the dead, while living refugees trudged slowly back to what was left of homes shattered by thunderous blasts and raging flames of a liquid fuel gas storage plant explosion.

Casualties from the disaster, which struck at the East Ohio Gas Company plant at mid-afternoon Friday, rose tonight to ninety-seven dead and 107 missing. Many of those listed by a missing persons bureau at county morgue, however, may be found among the unidentified dead. Corner S. R. Gerber, directing the search at the scene of Cleveland's worst catastrophe and one of the nation's major disasters, said "it may be days" before the rubble gives up all its dead.

Seven victims remained in critical condition in hospitals, and 165 others were being treated for less serious injuries.

Nazi Debt 126 Billions

LONDON, Oct. 22—The Berlin radio announced today that Nazi Germany's national debt totals 315 billion marks. At the current official rate of exchange of 40 cents to the mark this would amount to $126,000,000,000.

Dewey and FDR To Wage Personal Campaign Contest

(By The Associated Press)

A personal contest between President Roosevelt and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey for votes in populous and critical eastern and midwestern states is in prospect for the final two weeks of the campaign.

Mr. Roosevelt, who committed himself in a major foreign policy speech in New York Saturday night to unprecedented powers for the United States representative in a world peace agency, planned two and possibly four more addresses in his drive for a fourth term.

More "Political" Speeches
His next and fourth frankly political speech will be in Philadelphia's Shibe park Friday night. Chicago and Cleveland have been mentioned as possible choices for other vote-seeking speeches and he has a speaking date in Boston, probably Nov. 4.

Governor Dewey sets out from Albany again today (Monday) on the campaign trail. His aides have indicated that in the first speech of the western swing—at Minneapolis Tuesday night—he will outline his views on a postwar agriculture program. Dewey had no immediate comment on the president's foreign policy speech.

Dewey's Tentative Schedule
The Republican candidate will speak in Chicago Wednesday, in Buffalo October 31 and in Boston November 1 and in a windup appearance in New York's Madison Square Garden on November 4. Other speeches are being considered.

The Socialist presidential candidate, Norman Thomas, returning to New York from a tour of Michigan, said the outcome of the presidential race this year was the hardest to judge of any of the five campaigns in which he has participated. Senator Harry S. Truman, of Missouri, the president's running mate, planned a foreign policy address of his own at St. Paul, Minn., tonight. Traveling through South Dakota, Truman acclaimed his chief of New York speech and said "I plan to add a name or two to the list of Republican isolationists" named by Mr. Roosevelt.

Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, Dewey's Republican running mate, headed eastward into Wyoming today on the final week of a 10,000 mile western swing. After a Sunday of relaxation in Salt Lake City, he planned Monday speeches at Laramie and Cheyenne, Wyo., and Greeley and Brighton, Colo., with an evening address in Denver.

American Firms Hit by New Deal Secrecy, Manufacturers Assert

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP)—The National Association of Manufacturers said today that governmental disagreement over disposition of the lend-lease program, coupled with "intense secrecy," is causing American companies dependent on foreign markets to "rely on rumor and conjecture" in mapping their postwar programs.

The struggle in government, the NAM told its 12,000 member companies in a special bulletin, is between one group of officials "working for a businesslike settlement of lend-lease material that has a peacetime use, and another group which would cancel all lend-lease accounts and even continue lend-lease under another name after the war."

1,100 American Bombers Blast Nazi Industries

LONDON, Oct. 22 (AP)—A fleet of more than 1,100 American heavy bombers, attacking without loss, bombed Northern Germany's rich industrial belt from Hamun and Munster east to Hannover and Brunswick today. Two of the 730 covering fighter planes did not return, and they were believed to have landed in friendly territory.

All of the bombing was done by instruments through overcast clouds. No enemy aircraft were encountered and anti-aircraft fire was generally moderate.

Destruction Widespread
Fighter pilots reported the destruction of damage of five barges and five small steamboats. Two gas manufacturing plants were set up.

RAF Lancasters escorted by fighters made a heavy attack this afternoon on the German inland port and railway center of Neussdorf, and twenty miles northwest of Cologne. No planes were lost.

The RAF's famed Brazilian Tornado squadron, named in honor of Brazil, that had been credited with mortally wounding Nazi Field Marshal Gen. Erwin S. Rommel last July 17, attacked a "heavily defended headquarters area" in the Breskens pocket, where Canadian troops are driving to clear the schedule estuary.

Headquarters Bombed
Pilots of the four-cannon fighter bombers said "fully a dozen of our bombs landed inside the wire and burst among houses and barns." The headquarters was enclosed in high wire fences and surrounded by a concentration of anti-aircraft batteries.

Weather which had kept Eighth Air Force Liberators and Fortresses at home for two days was still soupy enough over Europe to delay today's attacks on the four railway and industrial cities that are north and east of Cologne.

Reports from bomb weary German citizens arriving in Stockholm indicated the constant Allied aerial offensive was leaving its mark.

A woman from Stuttgart said only one house in every twenty-five was left standing.

"No Gas" in Berlin
Berlin householders have been warned there will be "no central heating this winter and reports of "no gas" have been prevalent for days.

Flaming big guns at Vilsingen, Flushing, on the island of Walcheren, which had been harassing Canadian positions across the Scheldt south of Breskens, haven't fired a shot since a picked force of RAD Lancasters bombed them at noon yesterday.

Yanks, British And Canadians Attack Germans

American Third Army Advancing

By THORBURN WIAIT
LONDON, Monday, Oct. 23 (AP)—

The whole water-logged Western front from Holland to the Belfort gap burst back to life in a thunder of Allied attacks Sunday as the British and Canadians launched a clean-up squeeze on the Western Dutch flatlands and the American Third Army made a new thrust eastward to the Saar.

The Germans, surprised, reeled back before the fury of the attacks and, in this hour of vengeance their civilian slaughter weapon the Robot bomb was seen for the first time in the frontline battle zone.

The flying bombs were noted "in some numbers" over the United States First Army front, which includes the Aachen area. At what they were aimed was not clear and where they fell was not disclosed.

Trouble Looms for Nazis
The new Allied offensive flamed with rising menace to the German hopes of maintaining their block on Antwerp and holding the Americans from the Rhine.

Striking at dawn yesterday in a surprise offensive, the British Second army drove within less than four miles of the Germans' Dutch bastion of 's-Hertogenbosch and put up a giant squeeze on Southwestern Holland in concert with a powerful Canadian drive from the north.

The Canadians meanwhile seized Eschen, sixteen miles above Antwerp, and also captured the stronghold of Breskens south of the Scheldt, thus racking up a double triumph in the fight to open Antwerp's port as a floodgate for Allied supplies.

Third Army Advances
The United States Third Army at the same time broke forward in a push east of Nancy, in France, advancing two miles in the sector below enemy defenses inundated by the bursting of a dam by air assault.

The British offensive allied two-and-a-half miles toward 's-Hertogenbosch, main escape route for the Germans fighting desperately to hold the Southwestern Dutch coast. It was a double-headed push springing from the west flank of the deep British salient into Holland near Nijmegen.

Forty miles to the west, the Canadian advance toward Eschen, five miles below Roosendaal on the Antwerp road, after a night attack. This victory, capping an eleven-mile advance, bolstered the Allied grip on the narrow causeway to the west leading to Scheldt estuary islands, where German guns deny Allied ships the sea lane to Antwerp.

The German "blockade" pocket south of the Scheldt estuary was fast dwindling. The Canadians shattered the concrete, gun-studded defenses in the ferry port of Breskens and swept on a half-mile farther into old Fort Frederick-Hendrick.

Fighting of growing intensity raged along the Belgian-Dutch front from above Antwerp to near 's-Hertogenbosch. The British westward push was described by Allied sources as in the same strength as the Canadian northward drive. Berlin said the Canadian drive was being made by at least three infantry divisions and a reinforced armored division.

Doughboys near Aachen fought for the town of Wurselen, but the day's main American action opened at dawn to the south in the Nancy sector, breaking a two-weeks lull there.

A Good Suggestion

By Mr. Lippmann

"FOR ANYTHING like a reasonably rapid and decisive ending of the Japanese war, and without exorbitant cost to American families," says Walter Lippmann in his New York Herald Tribune column, "we need full and unhesitating co-operation among the Allies." This is because our task there is so great, and, accordingly, "pecking and sniping at our allies should be abated."

"We need to remember this paramount fact, in discussing the Dumbarton Oaks project," Lippmann goes on to say, "keeping in mind that its great purpose, which is to preserve and stabilize the grand alliance is of such supreme and vital importance now, and for the next immediate years, that every criticism must be made in the light of that purpose."

Quite so. And in keeping with this sensible admonition it would be well for certain bitter partisan extremists to withhold their recriminations as to the fate of the old League of Nations. The narrow charge that it was defeated by eleven senators should not be repeated inasmuch as the vote against acceptance in the Senate was forty-nine to thirty-five, and inasmuch as the defeat of James M. Cox for president came about largely because of overwhelming sentiment against the league draft as insisted on by President Wilson, this having been the chief issue in the campaign.

Moreover, misrepresentations as to the actual blame for defeat of the league acceptance in the Senate should not be repeated. What after all, were the reservations which President Wilson so stubbornly maintained would destroy the league? They were simply the general qualification that the actions prescribed were not to become effective so far as this nation was concerned unless the Congress "by act or joint resolution so provide."

The final Senate reservations, as well as the original Lodge resolutions on which they were based, did not exclude the United States from the league. They sought almost entirely to make American participation in it conform to the constitution of the United States. And since the Dumbarton Oaks draft clearly recognizes this stipulation it would appear that we should all recognize that a mistake was made in 1919 and stop trying to fasten the blame on which partisan schools of thought divide, to the end that we can profit by that mistake however made even though, as in the case of this newspaper, there is strong conviction as to how it was made. The facts are that the league treaty with its reservations could have been adopted with the assent of President Wilson and his party, but that Wilson directed it to vote against it as so qualified.

But, as stated, we can skip all that now and seek earnestly and bipartisanly to profit from experience in the great task at hand of building a workable structure to establish and maintain an enduring peace, which, as Governor Dewey points out and which dispatches now coming from London corroborate, is made imperative by the awful possibilities of the robot bomb development.

An Interesting Significance

WHEN Governor Dewey refers in his speeches to federal laws and regulations which even the lawyers can not understand, the audience laughs. There is in that kind of response an interesting significance.

Practically every one who chuckles over the remark has had an irritating experience with some federal law or regulation. Millions of people could not understand the tax forms used this year. They could hardly find two so-called experts to agree on an explanation of what the language meant. The forms were so confusing that even veteran tax authorities in the Treasury department were bewildered.

The fact that the people were amused by this confusion reflects a growing expectation that government regulations are drafted not to instruct the citizen, but to confuse him.

The people do not expect federal officials to speak plainly. They regard them as either on the middle-headed side or as being determined to force the people into more dependence on the opinions of bureaucrats for guidance in their dealings with the government.

The law is not what it professes to say, but what it turns out to be as explained in regulations which then have to be interpreted. The creation of these barricades between the people and the laws which they are presumed under the American system to make through the agency of Congress is the intrusion of bureaucracy.

The bureaucrat works cautiously but persistently to take over government from the people. Bureaucracy is slow poison. A country that laughs at its government's regulations is in the first stage of its decline.

A Diabolical Scheme To Save Their Necks

WHETHER true or not the Stockholm dispatch alleging that Germany is planning to send King Leopold of Belgium and other prominent hostages or prisoners of war to Japan as a bargaining reserve fits in perfectly with Hitler's mentality.

According to the reported plan, these hostages would be used for exchanges with captured Nazi leaders. If the United Nations refuse then for every Nazi big shot tried and executed as a war criminal, a hostage in Japan would be summarily killed.

The scheme is diabolical enough. Since the Allies do not go in for torture, death is the extreme penalty which will be meted out by their courts of justice. Hitler and gang already have committed enough crimes to make the death sentence certain. Nothing else they can do will change that for better or worse.

The Nazis have in their grasp many of the once influential men of Europe. Besides King Leopold, King Christian of Denmark, though not technically a prisoner, could be taken into custody and shipped to Tokyo. Also among the group are former French premiers and high officials of Holland and Norway. Hitler never has hesitated to murder innocent hostages in reprisal for acts of violence in occupied countries. Why should he hesitate when his own neck is at stake?

Scouting around for possible asylums after the fall of Germany Nazi bigwigs found one door after another shut in their faces. Practically the only chance of escaping judgment was this threat of a life for a life. But even if the threat should be carried out, the United Nations could not afford to allow Hitler, Goebbels, Himmler and Goering to get off scot free. Something more important than the lives of hostages is at stake.

If conquest of Japan does not take too long, the process of bringing Axis war criminals to book can be protracted until the gates of Jap prison camps are smashed. Hitler will have to think up something better.

A Revealing Statement

THE PITTSBURGH PRESS believes that one of the most revealing statements ever made by Mr. Roosevelt was included in his message to the Congress January 3, 1936.

"They realize," the message stated, "that in thirty-four months we have built up new instruments of public power. In the hands of a people's government this power is wholesome and proper. But in the hands of political puppets of an economic autocracy such power would provide shackles for the liberties of the people. Give them their way and they will take the course of every autocracy of the past—power for themselves, enslavement for the people."

The Press says this is revealing because it expresses Mr. Roosevelt's paternalistic impulse. The Press declares that Mr. Roosevelt is a paternalist—the lord of the manor, the country squire who believes—sincerely—that he knows better what's best for the people under him than the people themselves. And that, it declares, is the reverse of democracy. Mr. Roosevelt sincerely believes he is a true democrat, but the Press doesn't think he is.

"That instinct in him," it says, "explains the whole let-papa-fix-policy of his three administrations. It is a thing we definitely don't like, because we don't like to be patronized, talked down to, or led by the leash."

No, Americans don't like that for the simple reason that it runs counter to the American concept of individualism.

Irving Stone's "Immortal Wife" (Doubleday Doran) is an extraordinary story—and probably a true picture of one of the most extraordinary marriages in American history.

When Jessie Benton, steel-willed daughter of the fire-eating Missouri Senator Thomas Hart Benton, married John Charles Fremont, he was not yet famous. He was an obscure army lieutenant, a topographer who dreamed of exploring the unnamed West. One thing she wished and that was to be in the fullest sense the partner of the man she married; that was his wish, too, and the fruit of that marriage was an amazing career for both of them.

From obscurity for him to idolized popularity. From poverty to great wealth, from wealth to poverty again. From popularity to humiliation. From fierce ambition to ambition's fulfillment and then down to heart-searing bitterness.

The bare bones of Fremont's career are well known. He won his first fame as an explorer of the West. In California when it declared its independence of Mexico, he won for himself the enmity of General Kearney, and was ordered home to be court-martialed for mutinous conduct. He was found guilty on all counts and sentenced to dismissal from the army. President Polk reversed that judgment and ordered him to return to duty. He refused and resigned.

He had asked the Alcalde Larkin to use $3,000 to buy a large ranch in the Santa Cruz mountains; instead Larkin bought a huge grant at Mariposa in the Sierra. That grant, when gold was discovered, produced millions in gold for the Fremonts. . . . In 1856 he ran for the presidency, candidate of the young Republican party; he campaigned decently, honestly, and lost.

Restored to the army when the Civil war came, he began brilliantly in Missouri, issued what Lincoln considered a premature emancipation proclamation, and was relieved of his command. . . . After the war he plunged into a transcontinental railway project, mortgaged all his possessions, lost all.

And Jessie Fremont was with him every step of the way, intense and loyal, thinking only of her husband and injuring his career as much as she helped it.

A very funny book, that's Virginia Lederer's "Married at Leisure" (Doubleday Doran), and it's settling could be nowhere but Hollywood where anything can happen. Chubby is a prosperous character who loves Marilyn but doesn't dare to marry her because his grandmother, Mrs. Barker, hates her. The result is five years of ups and downs, rumors and gossip, drunken parties, quarrels and reconciliations, fantastic schemes on the part of Marilyn and her good friend Mrs. Tony Wyatt, who tells the story.

Here's another of those Random House book of cartoons, Richard Taylor made them and he's one of the best chuckle-heads in the business of producing outrageously funny cartoons. Lots of nekkid ladies of course, and how they do leer! . . .

If you want something serious and educational, read John T. Flynn's "Meet Your Congress" (Doubleday Doran). All about how bills get passed and how congressmen tuck. He thinks the procedures should be simplified but that on the whole our congressmen do a good job. . . . That's all from Marshall.

NO SIGN OF A HASTY DEPARTURE

Roosevelt Is a Reactionary, Mallon Says, Dewey Liberal and a Needed Reformer

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Dear Friend M.—You say you think Mr. Roosevelt is the greatest liberal leader since Lincoln, that his experience in war is needed to conclude the conflict victoriously, and this same experience in international affairs is necessary for postwar peace negotiations with Stalin and Churchill, and therefore you are going to vote for the president again. You ask me what I intend to do.

I have never before said how I intended to vote. It did not seem to me to be the business of anyone to do so is a violation of the privacy of American balloting. But I do not mind telling you this time I expect to vote for Dewey. And I am so sure of my ground I will tell you why.

Liberal Principles Lacking

Mr. Roosevelt may, as you say, have been the greatest liberal politician since Lincoln. But what liberal principle is at stake in this election? Name one, just one. There are none. In fact, the liberals on Mr. Roosevelt's coattails have suffered the same decadence as all successful reform movements.

They have turned anti-Democratic, pro-totalitarian, against individual freedom and rights, in favor even of dictatorship by themselves. With the power of wealth so effectively crushed in our country, these liberals have fed themselves fat and flabby on power for twelve years and become the real reactionaries of our era.

The true liberal is the man who fights against the injustices of his time from whatever source they come. The injustices of this administration are woven into its ties with seekers for special privilege and with corrupt political machines.

Formerly, when it was fresh and liberal, it dominated them. Now they dominate it.

There is no New Deal, only a conglomerate assemblage of seekers for special privileges from government, now behind this government. This is truth.

Dewey a Liberal

Dewey is a young reformer who would chase the rascals out. By any measure of sound reasoning, therefore he is the liberal candidate.

I would not vote for him for that reason alone, if I thought the peace would suffer one comma omitted or victory be delayed one hour.

Is his election necessary to sustain a foreign policy? What foreign policy? Name it. Are you shying at the vague shadow of Col. McCormick while joyfully swallowing the Russian fish hook?

Mr. Roosevelt's peace negotiations have been going on since the Atlantic Charter meeting with Churchill. What has he done, except to lose the Atlantic Charter? What has been accomplished except to start to reconvene a league of nations, which we could have joined any time in the last twenty-five years.

Is there one new thing done which makes you justly feel any more secure for post war?

I think Mr. Roosevelt has failed. Both Stalin and Churchill have got the better of him. I think the facts prove they have put it over on him at every turn (Poland, Finland, the Balkans, France, Italy, Germany).

Change Beneficial

A change in our leadership would be beneficial. Indeed is necessary to keep the peace from continuing to de-graduate itself down to the level of the European politicians, the trend it has followed without idealistic interruption since the charter was proclaimed.

Essential to win the war? You are not failing for that old political hook about the commander-in-chief, are you? That always has been an honorary title for the president.

Gen. Marshall is the actual commander-in-chief of the armies and he works at it, resisting the president and even the British (a great man whose full worth is not yet known to the country).

True Mr. Roosevelt has complete personal influence over the admirals, but I have heard none of them say his advice to them is necessary to the winning of the war.

Frankly, I think victory might come sooner with a little shakeup of some of these generals and admirals, but Dewey says he will not do it. There is thus no plausible suggestion lurking in any real fact to indicate a change in presidents would make any military difference.

Privilege Seekers Only

This is an unusual election. In short, there is no valid reason I can see why anyone should vote for Mr. Roosevelt except the great non-fighting army of seekers for self privileges from government who stand to gain personally by his continuance in office, and no sound reason why anyone of any other viewpoint should vote against Dewey.

No one has yet questioned Dewey's honesty or ability. Unless they do, successfully, I shall vote for him. I like Mr. Roosevelt. With all his administrative atrocities, his unconscionable cruel and punitive political tactic sat times and his unreasonableness on occasions, I see a certain under level of purpose which I like, but even this purpose has failed now.

The time is crying out for fresh leadership of any available kind to keep this country together as long as possible, and to defend American ideals before the world. That is what I truly think.

Sincerely,

PAUL MALLON.

WASHINGTON — Twin battlegrounds—both of which must carry to defeat President Roosevelt's fourth term ambitions and gain the White House for himself and the Republican party—yawn before Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

These vital scenes of political combat of the giants are the great states of New York and Pennsylvania and their forty-seven and thirty-five electoral votes, respectively.

The Republicans have expressed belief, some of them on the record, that the New York governor, gaining in stature, must carry both.

Lawrence Terms Army Circular an Official Blunder

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 The War department has been sending weekly for the last year current information bulletins to its orientation officers in an effort to help the morale of the troops in the field. Nearly all of these deal with non-controversial subjects but once in awhile a controversial subject is tackled because of a belief that it is not healthy for the soldiers to nurture grudges or foster bitter feelings.

So the War department tackled the subject of strikes and the labor problem. This correspondent last week called attention to an army bulletin discussing that subject because, even though marked "restricted" and distributed last August to the army, it was quoted in the CIO and other labor publications with exultation ten days ago as a sort of defense of labor's record and as proof that the persons who during the war period have criticized the strikes were talking through their hats. President Roosevelt used the same argument in his first political address of this campaign to the teamsters' union.

Quotations Used

On its face the army bulletin contained so much of the same line of argument that the New Deal apologists have been using and actually quoted the tricky defense made repeatedly that "only one-tenth of one percent" of the manhours were lost due to strikes—that it seemed as if during the midst of a presidential campaign an effort was somehow being made to influence the soldier vote.

The recently passed amendments to the law governing soldier-voting specifically say, of course, that "it shall be unlawful for any officer of the federal government or any agency or department thereof, including the army and navy, to deliver or cause to be delivered to persons in the armed services of the (Continued on Page 7, Col. 8)

RESINOL

This bomb is a BUG-BUSTER!

Worse than heat and rain and jungle—almost worse than Japs—are the flying, crawling insect enemies our boys battle in the Pacific.

But American ingenuity is winning the war against bugs as it is against all other enemies. And one of the best weapons is an "aerosol bomb," improved by Atlantic research.

The "bomb" is a metal cylinder about twice the size of a hand grenade. It is charged with pyrethrin, a powerful insecticide dissolved in liquid freon, a refrigerant gas. In the early "bug-busters," impurities in the pyrethrins clogged the fine nozzles through which the deadly mist was sprayed. Atlantic Ultraseine licked the problem of purification—ended clogging.

Today you remove the cap and fizz-whoosh! The freon forces out the insecticide in a fine continuous spray that kills all lice, gnats and mosquitoes in the vicinity, but is harmless to humans. One bomb will fumigate a pup tent 250 times or the fuselage of a big bomber 50 times.

Atlantic Ultraseine has proved to be the perfect carrier for insecticides because it is odorless, colorless and does not clog. Developed in peace, it is invaluable in war.

In the same way, Atlantic's wartime technical triumphs will serve to improve peacetime petroleum products—and bring you better motor oil and gasoline than you have ever known before!

Fort Hill-LaSalle Clash Tonight Launches Week's Football Card

Explorers Meet Allegany Friday, Sentinels Oppose Ridgeley Saturday

Intra-city scholastic football series battles between the Fort Hill Sentinels and the LaSalle High Explorers tonight and the Explorers and Allegany Campers Friday night appear on this week's district slate of eight contests.

Postponed from last Friday night on account of rain, the Fort Hill-LaSalle skirmish will get under way at 8 o'clock tonight, Brother Justin,

Explorer athletic director, and Coach Mel "Newt" Henry, of the Sentinels, agreeing to the new date. Fort Hill, boasting a string of four consecutive victories, will be out to assure itself of at least a tie for the city championship, shared last season by all three city schools. It will be the second meeting of the Sentinels and Explorers, the Hilltoppers winning the previous contest 54-6.

Coaches Phil Minke and Ronald Palmer last night announced a number of changes in the LaSalle starting lineup. Tommy Geetz, regular right halfback, is nursing a foot injury and his place probably will be taken by John Carney.

On the line, Don Blau will return to left tackle. Don Nehring to right tackle and Bill Seefeld to right end. Jack Kauffman and Frank Hiner will be co-captains for the game.

Friday's clash between Allegany and LaSalle will be the first of two meetings this season. The Campers, who humbled the Keyser (W. Va.) High Golden Tornado 22-0, here Saturday night on a soggy gridiron, will be favored.

The West Siders, in making it four victories in five starts this fall, talked a safety in the opening period when Jerry Hines, Keyser back, was tackled behind his own goal on the kickoff.

In the second period, Fullback Bruce Anderson registered the first of three Allegany touchdowns from the two-yard ribbon to climax a forty-one yard drive. Johnny Cox kicked the extra point.

Cox counted the second six-point drive from the four but his boot for the point failed, making it 15-0 at the half. Cox rang up the other touchdown in the third period from the eleven and then kicked the extra marker.

Allegany made thirteen first downs to Keyser's two and completed three of eleven passes for fifty-eight yards. The Tornado connected one of four tosses for seven yards. The Campers made 202 yards on running plays and Keyser made fifty-eight.

Fort Hill will play its second game of the week on Saturday night, entertaining the Ridgeley High Black Hawks, who lost their fourth straight encounter last Friday when they bowed 19-0 to the Moorefield High Yellow Jackets.

Thursday afternoon, Moorefield will go to Franklin for a conference tussle while on Friday, Romney's Pioneers will entertain Keyser in another PVC engagement. Last week the Pioneers routed Fort Ashby 34-0.

In other Friday scraps, Thomas and Parsons will meet for the second time at Parsons with Thomas favored to sweep the series and Charles Town's Purple Panthers will be hosts to Shepherdstown.

Saturday, Martinsburg's Bulldogs and Hagerstown will collide at Martinsburg in a Cumberland Valley Athletic League game with the Bulldogs favored to defeat the Hub City eleven for the second time this season.

Packers Defeat Rams To Extend Pro Loop Streak

Redskins, Giants and Boston Win; Bears and Lions Play Tie

GREEN BAY, Wis., Oct. 22 (AP)—Green Bay's Packers held their position at the top of the National Football League's Western division today by conquering the surprising Cleveland Rams, 30 to 21, in a routing battle.

The victory was the Packers' fifth straight in league competition, and the setback was Cleveland's first in four games.

The Rams made a battle of it every minute of the way, and wasted no time grabbing a lead in the first period. Tommy Colella recovered a fumble by Don Hutson after the great Packer wingman had caught a long pass, and two plays later Colella, galloping behind a wave of blockers, went seventy-five yards for a touchdown.

The inevitable happened to the Rams a few minutes later when Irv Hutson shot an eleven-yard pass to Camp on the one-yard line and Ben Starnett plunged over on the next play.

Redskins Win 17-14

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP)—A thirty-eight-yard field goal by End Joe Aguirre midway in the final period today gave the Washington Redskins a 17-14 victory over the Brooklyn Tigers before a capacity crowd of 35,000 persons in the opening National Football League game of the season here.

Aguirre's crossbar-skimming kick halted a comeback by the underdog Brooklyn team that had wiped out an early 14-0 Washington lead and knotted the score at 14-all on the first play of the final quarter.

Eagles Lace Yanks

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22 (AP)—The undefeated Philadelphia Eagles, launching a brilliant running attack that accounted for three touchdowns in the first half, turned back the Boston Yanks 38 to 0 today.

Coach Greasy Neale, confident that the game was in the bag after the first period, sent in his second team backfield, but even then Boston was unable to score or check the Eagles' offensive.

points, the New York Giants generated enough power today to defeat the combination of Chicago Cards and Pittsburgh Steelers 23 to 0 for their third straight victory in National Football League competition.

A crowd of 40,734, sitting in on the Giants' first home game, saw the New Yorkers throw back every threat made by the Card-Pitts and chalk up a touchdown in each of the second on a blocked kick.

Bears, Lions Tie 21-21

Chicago, Oct. 22 (AP)—The Detroit Lions, sparked by Frankie Sinkwich who last week was hospitalized with appendicitis, fought off a last period drive that reached the shadow of their goal posts and held the favored Chicago Bears to a 21-21 tie before 23,835 fans at Wrigley field today. Sinkwich tossed one touchdown pass after running and passing to get in position, and set up a second with accurate aerials.

The former Georgia flash gained a net total of eighty-seven yards from rushing as he fired his teammates in a hectic third quarter that saw the Lions wipe out a 14-7 deficit to take a 21-14 lead. But the Lions' power waned in the final quarter before the hammering of the heavy Chicago line and Detroit's best effort was a drive to the twenty-three-yard line after the Bears had scored.

Three Important Battles Decided By Field Goals

By TED MEIER

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 (AP)—The field goal, which like the sacrifice punt in baseball was largely ignored in recent years, bounced back into the college football limelight Saturday.

Allen Bowen, of Georgia Tech; Buell St. Johns of North Carolina; and Billy Jones, of Tulane, all booted three-pointers in the closing minutes that won for their teams.

Bowen's kick was the most important since it produced the top upset of the afternoon, a 17 to 15 Tech victory over powerful Navy before 35,000 at Atlanta. Bowen, a freshman, lofted the piskin over the crossbar from twenty yards out to wipe out a 15-14 Navy edge. The Midshipmen piled up 221 yards by rushing to a minus six, but four times were thrown back by Tech goal-line stands.

St. Johns' effort from the eighty-yard line came with only seven seconds left and gave the Cloud-busters a 3 to 0 triumph over Georgia pre-flight while Jones' boot from the seven accounted for Tulane's 16-13 win over Auburn.

Army Wins 76-0

Notre Dame, Army and Ohio State, the nation's top-ranked elevens, meanwhile moved on to their fourth straight triumphs with the Buckeyes playing before 73,477 at Columbus, scoring three touchdowns in the last quarter to beat Great Lakes, 26 to 6. Notre Dame yielded its first touchdown of the year, but whipped Wisconsin, 28 to 13, while Army had a field day against the United States Coast Guard Academy, piling up a 76-0 score.

Elsewhere, a couple of upsets on the Pacific coast: Kansas' first triumph over Nebraska in forty-eight years; high-scoring ties between Brown-Holy Cross, 24-24, and Iowa State-Missouri 21-21; and a couple of Dick Merriwell feats stood out.

Cornell beat Sampson, 13-6 scoring the winning touchdown on a forward pass that was still in the air as the final gun barked. Penn State surprised Colgate, 6-0, when an 18-year-old freshman, John Chukran, ran back a punt fifty yards for touchdown with less than two minutes to play.

The Fleet City Bluejackets, 2 to 1 underdogs, trounced California, 19 to 2, while St. Mary's pre-flight walloped the UCLA Bruins, 21-12, mainly on the efforts of Julius Davis, an 18-year-old naval aviation cadet from Clarksville, Miss., high school.

Lots of Action This Week

Mississippi State and Tulsa stayed in the unbeaten, untied class by beating LSU, 13-6, and Mississippi, 47-0, but Tennessee had its perfect slate marred by a scoreless tie with Alabama. Wake Forest also remained unbeaten.

In the Southwest the Second Air Force, led by Glenn Dobbs, drubbed North Texas Aggies, 68-0, while Texas beat Arkansas, 19-0, and Oklahoma smeared Kansas State, 68-0. Purdue whipped Iowa in the Western Conference. Indiana beat Northwestern and Illinois laced Pitt.

The coming week promises plenty of action with such attractive games as Duke-Army; Navy-Penn.

Notre Dame-Illinois; Minnesota-fornia; USC-St. Mary's and March Ohio State; Purdue-Michigan; field-St. Mary's pre-flight listed TCU-Oklahoma; Washington-California among others.

Big Republican Gains Are Shown By Registration

Increase of Nearly Twenty-four per Cent Is Made since 1940

A Republican gain of 1037 has been achieved in Allegheny county since the last presidential election year, according to the total registration figures just reported. This represents a Republican gain of 23.76 per cent plus its majority in the last four years.

The total registration reported for 1944, including the May registration shows that in this year alone the Republicans have increased their majority by 606 voters. This constitutes an approximate gain of 12.6 per cent plus of the Republican majority for this year.

The total registration for this year just reported is as follows:

Republicans	26,780
Democrats	21,399
Republican majority	5,381

In 1940 the total registration was as follows:

Republicans	24,312
Democrats	19,948
Republican majority	4,364

Despite the expectations of Democratic leaders that their party would make their largest registration gains in the city of Cumberland this year by reason of the large industrial population, the Republicans placed 760 new votes in the city while the Democrats were successful in registering only 673, thus giving the Republicans a majority of eighty-seven within the city.

Republican observers looked upon these progressive gains in their party registration as indicative of the constant Republican trend which has been beginning in 1940. Party leaders say there are no signs that this trend will be reversed.

Arriving here Friday afternoon, Randall visited the Luke paper mill and spoke briefly to the employees. He was accompanied by Morgan C. Harris, state's attorney, and other Republican leaders. Randall attended the annual ball of the Police and Firemen's Welfare association at the state armory Friday evening.

He stated that it was apparent that the Republican ticket would win a substantial majority in Allegheny county. He also predicted that Rep. J. Glenn Beall would be re-elected to Congress by a large vote from the Sixth Congressional district.

Before visiting Garrett county Saturday, Randall went to Frostburg that evening to attend the opening of the new American Legion home there. He returned to Baltimore yesterday.
